HISTORY OF MCS

Manassas Christian School was established by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Copeland in September of 1965, offering a kindergarten program to the community.

In 1987, Minnieland Private Day School became its owner and began 21 years of program and facility development. It now encompasses two campuses: Manassas Christian Academy, our preschool and kindergarten center, and Manassas Christian School, our new school designed to meet the academic, social and emotional needs of children in Kindergarten through Eighth grades.

Manassas Christian School has combined academic excellence with character education by utilizing an enriched curriculum and Bible study. Our children develop strong minds and character while learning the importance of compassion and friendship.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

MCS sets high standards for its student body and provides the instruction, support and home-school connection to help every child achieve. We present an academically challenging program at all levels, while meeting the individual needs of our students. Our curriculum meets, and in some areas, exceeds the Standards of Learning established by the Virginia Department of Education.

The attainment of literacy skills is the focus of our program. A phonics based reading program is utilized in the early grades, enhanced by a literature based program in the later grades. Daily writing activities in journals, or for student publication, support the reading-writing connection. Spelling and grammar skills are developed, practiced, and incorporated into our reading instruction. The Accelerated Reader program is utilized to motivate our students to read and improve their comprehension skills, while Drop Everything and Read (DEAR), library visits, read-alouds, and literature circles develop the students' reading abilities.

Math is explored through a hands-on approach to number concept, problem solving, computation, and estimation. Social Studies is presented in a theme-based format with projects, research and community exploration forming the basis for the students' activities. Our science program is founded on the scientific method in which concepts are investigated through student predictions, hypotheses, and testing. Our Spring Science Fair is the highlight of our year of study and includes all of our students and their research into their favorite scientific area.

Specialty classes in Spanish, German, music, art, physical education and computer round out our curriculum, and provide for the cultural, technical, and physical development of our students.

The school's calendar is designed on a six-week grading schedule. Interim reports are issued mid-term to keep parents informed of their student's progress. Teachers communicate program information through e-mails and monthly letters to parents. Mandatory parent conferences are held throughout the year to facilitate regular communication between home and school.

The life of Christ is studied, along with the Acts and missions. Bible doctrine study begins in fourth grade, while in-depth investigations of the Old Testament and New Testament comprise the fifth and sixth grade programs. Seventh grade focuses on the gifts and prophecies of biblical leaders, while the eighth grade program is a study of the nature and character of God.

STANDARDIZED TESTING

The Phonemic Awareness Literacy Screening (PALS) is administered to our kindergarten through third grade students in the fall to determine instructional reading levels, and in the spring to determine skill attainment.

The Star reading test is administered in the fall, winter and spring to students in all grades to initially determine and then monitor their Accelerated Reading Program level.

The Iowa Test of Basic Skills is administered yearly to all classes in the Spring, while the Cognitive Abilities Test is administered to our second, fourth and sixth grade students during this testing period.
